CFMC Announces 2009 Board of Directors and Offices

January 15, 2009

MORGAN COUNTY, Ind. - The Community Foundation of Morgan County has held its first Board of Directors meeting with its new members and officers.

Officers for 2009 will be Shelley Voelz, president; Dale DePoy, vice president; Jim Johnson, treasurer; and Karen Yeager, secretary. Susan Haynes will continue to serve on the Executive Committee and board as past president.

“With the current economic status of our nation on everyone’s mind, this is an especially important year for the community foundation as we continue to properly steward our funds,” Voelz said. “I am honored to be working with board members who value their responsibility to our donors and fundholders and who want to make a difference in Morgan County.”

Joining the Board as new Directors are: Chris Branson, Mooresville; Chris Wheeler, Eminence; and Erin Pipkin, Camby.

Continuing their terms of office on the Board are: Jim Brack, Dale DePoy, Doug Garrison, Susan Haynes, Jim Johnson, Bill Meredith, Ruth Rusie, Brian Stremming, Shelley Voelz, Judy Williams, and Karen Yeager.

At its December meeting, the 2008 Board of Directors expressed its sincere thanks to the retiring members Cynthia Brewer, Kenny Costin, Steve Crites, Judy Gemmecke, Rachel Ruona, and Norman Stockton for their support over the years. Several of the retiring board members, such as Costin, Brewer, and Ruona, were active before the former Morgan County Community Foundation and the Mooresville Community Foundation merged in 2000.

Individuals interested in serving with the Community Foundation of Morgan County, Inc. are invited to consider volunteering to serve on one of the foundation’s committees.
